Miracles of Christ

The Gospels recount a large number of miracles performed by Jesus Christ: for example, miracles of healing, miracles of raising the dead, and miracles exhibiting control over natural forces. In the New Testament sense, they are signs and wonders—events that are naturally unexplainable—which serve as a motive of credibility by manifesting the power of Christ and inviting those who witness them to faith in Christ himself. (See John 2:11). (CCC 517, 1507)
